Great and Useful Invention.

No more Mortality for want of Water.

Sure wealth to Estancieros

By the Robert Apparatus.

Being notorious the immense injury occasioned by the scarcity of water during the long (recess) that afflict the camps of Buenos Ayres, I have determined to dedicate my time to the Americos an Apparatus at once simple and infallible for procuring as much water as they may require 120 Bordoons per hour (it seems fabulous) is procured with my apparatus, without fear of at any time its getting out of order.

This machine is worked by one horse and in one day's work can give 4 Bordaleras; that is to say, sufficient water for 200 head of cattle.

By these figures can be calculated the immense advantages gained by its use.

Another advantange is the facility of putting it together and taking it to pieces, so as to be able to transport it to any place where it may be necessary to use it, either for watering purposes or others.

GREAT MODIFICATION.

I have made an improvement in my Apparatus, applying a new system which reduces the necessary force two thirds, giving it at the same time more rapidity.

Those interested can see it at Calle Moreno, No. 340 (Honorrado, Paris.)

One sole inspection of the Apparatus will prove to them the superiority of it over any other. ROBERT.

WEDNESDAY, March 30, 1864.

FRENCH MAIL.

The French steamer which arrived yesterday morning, brings dates from Paris and London to the 24th February, and from Lisbon till the 28th February.

It appears almost certain that England intends again to enter into friendly relations with the Brazils.

On the 18th February, Mr. Hunt, in the House of Commons, asked Mr. Layard, Sub-secretary of Foreign Affairs, if the British Government had accepted the proffered intercessation of the Portuguese Government in the Brazilian difficulty. To which question Mr. Layard replied in the affirmative, stating, however, that it was not yet known if the Brazils would accept it; and that he had read, with great surprise, the speech of the Emperor of the Brazils, in which he says that he cannot agree to the proposed intervention until he know whether Great Britain would do so also or not, and that the Portuguese Minister had told him that so soon as the British ministry gave a direct answer to the proposal, an envoy would be sent to the Brazils to arrange matters. The attacks of the two countries are beginning to tell upon Earl Russell, who is accused of embroiling Great Britain with all Foreign Powers. The German Duchy question is the principal topic of interest in England at present. England is obliged, by the treaties of 1715, 1720, 1720, and 1852, to sustain Denmark in all of her late integrity and sovereignty in Schleswig. The present interest of England is in accordance with these treaties. She could never allow of the annexation of these provinces by the German principalities, but, on the other hand, the general wish of the nation is in favour of peace. What makes the affair more complicated is, the private relationship of the Royal Family with both the belligerent powers—the Prince Consort's family and the present Princess Royal are connected with the German Powers, whilst the Prince of Wales is allied to Denmark, and naturally upholds his father-in-law.

The Cabinet is not in a very pleasant position. Earl Russell is particularly disliked by the Emperor of the French. Rumours are current that the present Cabinet will be dissolved, and that Sir Cave Administration will come in; but this is only a report, and likely to be a ruse of Lord Palmerston's to receive from the nation strong or proof of their confidence in him. Reform is still agitating the House, and also the law of primogeniture, some of the members wishing to introduce a new bill for the equal division of property amongst the different children of the landowners. This last is a most important subject, and affects the basis of English society. In Ireland, agitation for Repeal is again springing up. Disraeli has been questioning the Government about the misery and destitution of that country.

In France all is quiet, and in the Chambers there have been some discussions of any importance. The Senate has rejected a petition for liberty to the press to publish, at greater length, the discussions in the Chambers.

The French Government is preserving a guarded silence on the subject of Denmark and Germany. Guards of the Emperor's intentions are, as usual, flying about, but he has mentioned his name to no one. In the next elections, which take place in the Department of the Seine, the workmen of Paris intend to propose a candidate of their own class.

The imperial journalists disapprove of this candidature; however, it is supposed that the Emperor is in favour of the step.

The Belgian Chambers are about to meet, and it is expected they will be soon dissolved.

Russia continues making liberal concessions to the provinces: in Finland, a law of free press. Meantime, an happy Parisian groans under hard fetters. Several members of the National Government were seized with important documents. In some places the rebellion slackens, but there is no sign of submission: the rebels of Radom attacked the city of Kinoskie, and the garrison, supported on a battle armed, in which the Russians lost heavily.

UNITED STATES.

A DISSOLVING VIEW OF THE REBELLION.

On the first page of the New York Herald our readers will find the most interesting, and we dare say the most acceptable war map which we have presented them since the opening bombardment of Fort Sumter. It furnishes a dissolving view of the rebellion, which covers, at a glance, the results of the campaign which was beginning to the present day. It shows the work we have accomplished towards the suppression of the rebellion, from the confederacy, and the comparatively light work still required to finish it.

On the 4th of March, 1861, the military line of the rebellion covered a compact geographical area of about eleven hundred thousand square miles, embracing a population of nearly twelve millions of people. Two-thirds of this territorial area and two-thirds of this population have since been recovered and restored to the "old flag;" and all that which the rebellion has lost is so much added to the strength of the Union. But this is only a superficial view of the extent to which the rebellion has weakened, and the extent to which the Union has been strengthened from these transfers of territory and population. The States of Tennessee, Kentucky, Missouri, Arkansas, Louisiana and Florida, with the States covered with the rebellion, depended for this subsistence of its armies; and in losing these States it is fast on army out from its base of supplies. If a military view the Western section of the rebellion, as depicted on our map, may be properly considered as entirely cut off from the military strength of Jeff. Davis; for that immense gap which has been open made down the Mississippi to the Gulf, cuts off this Western from the Eastern section of his usurped dominions as completely as if divided by the Mediterranean sea.

The available forces and resources of the rebellion, the, efore, are really limited to the Eastern section, embracing a white population of seven millions and a black population somewhat less, from which two millions of white soldiers, two thirds of which number we will assume, are still in the field. And to this force the new conscripts recently raised, and the forces marching with Lee, Longstreet and Joe Johnston from the recaptured States, will add from two to three hundred. Davis in the Eastern section may, perhaps, be set down as now amounting to two hundred thousand men. The sweeping conscription which the Confederate may swell this force to two hundred and fifty thousand men; but it is more likely to fall short of this increase than to exceed it.

The spring campaign, then, will open with a Union force of at least five hundred thousand men, against a rebel force, in this Eastern section, of two hundred and fifty thousand men; and we have nothing of the powerful co-operating, forces on the Union side of our iron-clad and gunboats. Considering then, the disgusted, demoralized, half-starved and naked state of the rebel armies, and the heavily oppressed, deranged and exhausted condition of the rebel States, from Virginia to Mississippi, we may anticipate that the final short work will be made of this remnant of the so called Southern confederacy with the assumption of active military operations.

We rely mainly on General Grant to finish it. Our illustrative map very forcibly presents the vast amount of substantial work that he and his subalterns have performed in the West; and the scanty results of President Lincoln's strategy and tactics in the starving military genius in the East. If Mr. Lincoln will still insist upon nagging Grant with the capture of Richmond, or Petersburg, or the will; but let him provide General Grant with men and means for an aggressive campaign from Chattanooga to Charleston, and the rebellion will satisfy the country. True, the heroic Army of the Potomac may thus fall to secure its well-merited reward for its endurance of labours, of the crowning and decisive victory of the war; but the rebellion will be speedily extinguished.—New York Herald.

THE DANISH WAR

Latest intelligence reports the Danish army in full return before the Austrians and Prussians, after abandoning their fortifications at Dannewerk, which was deemed a false step on the part of the Danish Commander, the people of Copenhagen being greatly enraged against General Meza for the same. Th Ministers sought to exculpate themselves before the Chambers, declaring they had not ordered the retreat, and dismissing Meza from his post. It seems, however, the General was not to blame, as the entrenchments were too extended to admit of defence: he had at first counted on the aid of a Swedish force, when he meditated holding the Dannewerk, against the allied arms. The Danish forces are now in the island of Alsen, and the fortifications of Dupper, covering the rest of Schleswig; the latter form an excellent strategic position, and the Danes lately made a sally which cost dear to the Austro prussian army. The invaders were destroying the Danes w'ch, 600 men being engaged in the work. The Danish Government has declared a blockade of the ports of Schleswig-Holstein, which are now in power of the allies.

A telegram announces that the Prussians had seized Kolding, in Jutland, which forms a part of Denmark proper: this caused a great sensation in Paris and London. Lord Palmerston declared in the House of Commons that he had no official news of it, but that France demanded explanations, and the allies gave a satisfactory reply, withdrawing their forces from Kolding. England proposed a diplomatic conference to which the belligerents severally acceded. Denmark refuses a cession of hostilities. In Holstein serious tumults have taken place between the Hanoverian (Federal) garrisons and the allies. The Senate of Frankfort commissioners have protested against the Austro Prussian occupation. All Germany is opposed to the policy of the allies, and the latter are beginning to discord, as Prussia wishes to annex the Duchies, for the sake of the port of Kiel.

The 'Presse' of Vienna reports a conference of the ministers of Bavaria, Saxony, Wurtemburg, Baden, Hesse, Darmestadt, Saxe-Weimar and Nassau to consider what must be done in the Duchies seeing the attitude of Austria and Prussia. Hanover and Hesse-Cassel refused to attend The Emperor of Austria declared to the Austrian Chambers he had no ambitious designs in Holstein.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

We publish the prospectus table of Mr. Hopkin's new project which has just come out in London, with every success. We also extract an article from the Brazil and River Plate Mail, which states that all the shares have been already taken up. Justice Haliburton, better known as "Sam Slick," is vice president. San Fernando will now gain increased importance.

The French packet brings some startling news about Denmark, and union matters of interest. We regret to notice the demise of one of our oldest and most respected merchants, J. C. Thompson, Esq.

B. Ayrean Securities have slightly risen: Six per Cents 9- to 93, Three per Cents 35 to 37; Northern Railway 5s to 15s premium; G. Southern, 5 dis. to par; River Plate Bank £8 to £10 premium; new shares £2 to £2 5s. premium.

The best news we can give our readers is the arrival of seven hundred and twenty-nine recruits from New York, per Eagle. What between deaths and coolies, draughts and revolutions, people in this country have hardly time to remark how our trade with the United States is falling off. There was a time when Beebe and Co. of Wall street, the greatest bullion brokers in America, bought doubloons solely to export to Buenos Ayres. In that good old time ounces ranged from 300 to 325 dollars the mpe. Whether through our own or our friends fault we cannot say, but certain it is that of all the vessels which arrive from the States now-a-days, scarcely one brings us a gold ounce: the Eagle therefore deserves a welcome from us all, and we hope Prescott Mitre and Gov. Saavedra will entertain her auriferous captain at a public dinner, if the brokers don't give him a spread on the Bolsa.

Another good piece of news is, that the barometer is falling fast, at least so we have been informed by the pound watch makers, Messrs Leggit and Diavet, who sell the best watches and barometers in town. We may shortly expect rainy weather for a month.

The Boca at present is something like Rigo or Odessa—about on all sides four vessels arrived from San Nicolas laden with nothing but wheat. This reads like a fable.

But we have had news also for our readers which we are sorry to be obliged to publish. The roar about the elections still goes on in the papers, and the drought continues in the camp. Along the banks of the Parana, where during all last summer the camps were in splendid condition, the grass is now completely burnt up, and not a blade to be seen from San Nicolas to Zarate: the estancias are in a miserable state.

Paper money is so steadily falling in value that the French and Italian operatives in town are talking of a strike; this is a bad business. We hear that the French shoemakers complain that, although they do more business than ever, they can now hardly support their families: twenty-five paper dollars a day is now no longer able to keep a workman and his family. Several Frenchmen who emigrated to this country recently in the hopes to have returned en masse to their native land, having tried this place for a few months, and are unanimous in coming to the conclusion that a country where politics were so high and paper money so low was no place for them to try their fortune. The French refugee from whom we hear have taken the matter up, and state that unless some stop is put to the present system, they will leave country sooner they get out of the country the better.

On Saturday night a terrible row occurred in the Plaza Parque; but, as a matter of course, no policemen were to be had. The cause of all the row, Sewell says, some fellow who was turning from a club meeting, shouted out "mucora," to other Mitre "mucora," both of them. A regular rough and tumble scuffle ensued. A peaceably-disposed 'serene,' who apparently detests his avocation, came strolling up to the combatants, and when one of the belligerent politicians pitched into him for making a noise; the 'serene' whistled, down came a whole troop of watchmen, the club men skedaddled down Calle Parque; but some of them were overheard to say that they would settle the matter with a certain individual that night. Whether the unfortunate man was murdered or not, we have not heard.

BRUCE'S ADDRESS.

The days of Bannockburn are past, but the name of its hero is not forgotten. We wish, however, to call attention to a Bruce of the present day, who has done signal service to this country. His address to the prime minister was received from the courtesy of a reply, and the N. American noticing the letter to the Standard declares total ignorance of his offered terms, although briefly expressed in said letter. Moreover the Argentine official paper should be well informed in all matters of such a kind, and honestly tell the intentions of Government. Never has Paraná steam navigation been carried on with such punctuality, good management, and satisfaction to the public as under the present regime, and we do not hesitate to say that any change is likely to be for the worse. In a running race Bruce would not hesitate to sell out all the steamer to relieve the distressed exchequer, in a trifling way. We will not say that anything of such a nature is on why not admit Capt Bruce's petition to import materials duty-free for the construction of a steamer in the Boca Sourdeaux, and let the company and capital devotes himself to the material interests of the country, he deserves better treatment. A mere nominal disregard. Capt. Bruce has therefore acted aright, in without wing both his proposals, and trusting to his own head and hands, without the Government patronage, to maintain his enterprise He is gone to Rio Janeiro to purchase a steamer, and this time he will be more independent, before the close of his contract. May 31st.

Since the above was written, we gladly peruse the following well-written able paragraph in yesterday's Nacion, apropos of M. Matti's letter on the subject. This is, perhaps, a good synopsy of the Argentine Minister's intentions of Government to treat Capt. Bruce as his deserts require.

QUESTION.

We remember being present at a very spirited debate in a club of one of our Brazilian cities, on the question of the argument was: "Suppose a man had killed a bee built by the horns, whether would he be safer for him to hold on or let go. The question was never decided. Our sanctum has lately been turned into a debating room, and the question now usually employed in trying to solve the difficult question—whether is it better to kill your assailant in self-defence, or to let him alone are in favour of the latter conclusi n, and bring forward as a proof the case of Flowers. What they say is very true: if an Englishman commits murder slaughter in self-defence—he is a sad loser by delivering himself up to justice; for he has to pay the expenses of the trial, that should he be acquitted, he will find himself a pauper on being released, as all his property will have gone to rack and ruin; but should he be condemned, he can only be shot; the poor result, minus imprisonment would have been reached had his assailant killed him.

There is a report current in town that a few nights ago, a man was stabbed right below the nose of our police, namely "on the mole. Verily, what between assassins and holes in that structure, the mole is becoming doubly hazardous, and it is really a very hard case that we can find no place in which to breathe fresh air. The mole, being the only promenade, is daily used by us to Palermo we cannot go, as it is every bit as bad, if not worse, for, on Thursday morning, at eight o'clock a.m. a foreigner was attacked on the road to that run-in-one, and deprived of his money and watch. Soon our vulgar but expressive phrase 'Go to Jericho' will be paraphrased into Go to Palermo. But let not the innocent traveller suppose that, although he fall in with the Levites, he will also meet with Samaritans, as in the days long since answered to a certain man bound to Jericho.

"A little learning is a dangerous thing," and we begin to see the force of this saying—it is most likely from the perpetrator of the Palermo robbery had been studying Pe sident Lincoln's speech, in the issue of solomn and mature deliberation, of course; and at 3 o'clock upwards of 40 people were waiting to be dispatched, and it was unable to obtain the necessary papers until 4 o'clock, when it was too late for the vessel to sail, thus obliging the vessel to remain over until Monday. A 'malecito' becomes rather an expensive amusement, when it is paid for by the dollar—a vessel for 40 hours.

It would be a great gain to the commercial public, and to the cause of civilisation in this country, were the taking out of passes in the Custom-House to be confined to the days of the day abol ished. Another thing is, a 'malecito' generally leads to a cigar, a cigar to discussions upon politics and the opera; and all is finished up with the clerks coming to the conclusion that the public is a bore, and should not be encouraged in its semi-idiotic ideas of business.

We would recommend to these Buenos Ayrean Government gentlemen the perusal of the interesting correspondence of a gentleman in the Civil Service of Great Britain, called Organ Loftus and let them take warning from his fate.

THE BUENOS AYRES ROSOUD WHARF AND RIVER TRANSIT COMPANY (LIMITED).

In our advertising columns will be found a prospectus of this new company, launched under very favorable auspices and we believe the shares are already fully subscribed for. One of the most extensive works in the port of Buenos Ayres labours arises from the shallowness of the water, which compels vessels to lay-out some way from the shore, and thus enhance the goods and produce being a very tedious and costly affair. On the other hand the numerous river craft which ply up and down the Paraná and the Uruguay are con edled to make a long detour to avoid the extensive sand banks which lie between Martin Garcia and the island of Martin Garcia, after passing which the main entrances to the two great rivers are reached. Indeed, the Uruguay has a short channel from its outlet to the broad estuary of the Ex Plata, is a small branch or offset called the Rosario, which runs close to the port of San Fernando is at present accessible by small craft, at certain states of the tides but the stream is so torrential and the barrier bar so shifting that it takes place. The new company is formed to deepen and straighten this natural canal so as to render it navigable for vessels of considerable draught of water, and thus avoid the open road stead of Buenos Ayres bonded warehouses. It also proposes to construct a railway to communicate with the railway already opened from Buenos Ayres to San Fernando, and thus make the great up river trade cities visit the port direct in a manner that must materially diminish the cost of transit, and of course cheapen the produce of the country. The Buenos Ayrean Government has also granted valuable privileges to the company, with the right to levy tolls, which are established to be very moderate, and to yield, in conjunction with the warehouses, a large return to the shareholders. The praiseworthy manner in which the Government of Buenos Ayres is encouraging works so essential to the development of local and internal interests is the best guarantee for their success, and this, coupled with the honourable manner in which all its engagements are carried out will naturally attract capital to this country to aid the efforts of a people who look to Europe as not only their best friend but one most desirous to see the full and adequate return yielded for the money so employed in their behalf.

RIVER PLATE ITEMS.

London, Buenos Ayres and River Plate Bank—Mr. John Fair, who has been for many years connected with this bank has joined the direction of the London Buenos Ayres and River Plate Bank (Limited), in the promotion of which he was associated prior to his departure.

Presentation of a New Organ to St. John's church, Buenos Ayres—During the present visit to this country, Edward Lumb, Esq., a merchant of long standing in Buenos Ayres, ordered an organ for St. John's church, from the firm of Brook street, Euston-road, for presentation to the sidereal church, and the merits of the instrument are to be tested at the factory to morrow evening, on which occasion Mr. Frederic Archer, organist of the Royal Agricultural Hall, will preside, and the programme of music shows a most praiseworthy treat to the numerous parties invited to attend on the interesting occasion. We have already borne testimony to the liberal

The motive of this 'mania' is to allow the hard-worked clerk sufficient time to recruit exhausted nature by imbibing with all proper hidalgo gravity a "matinee" or work: "matinee" is itself a most innocent, vapid and insipid amusement, and is so swinging on a gate and sucking canes—but when taking a 'matinee' interferes with the business of commercial men, who do not care for 'mate,' it becomes a decided nuisance and therefore should be squashed.

We know one house which, the other day, had to clear out a vessel which was ready to sail. The clerk was unable to attend at the Custom-house on Saturday until half-past 1 pm., the hour of solemn and serious "No admittance, of course; and at 3 o'clock upwards of 40 people were waiting to be despatched, and it was unable to obtain the necessary papers until 4 o'clock, when it was too late for the vessel to sail, thus obliging the vessel to remain over until Monday. A 'malecito' becomes rather an expensive amusement, when it is paid for by the dollar—a vessel for 40 hours.

London, Buenos Ayres and River Plate Bank—Mr. John Fair, who has been for many years connected with this bank has joined the direction of the London Buenos Ayres and River Plate Bank (Limited), in the promotion of which he was associated prior to his departure.

We have already borne testimony to the liberal views of the Buenos Ayres Government and people, as regard the free exercise of other religions than their own, and in no part of the world are foreign residents treated with more cordiality. We feel sure the British residents in Buenos Ayres will appreciate, as it deserves, this graceful act on the part of Mr. Lumb. We may state that this gentleman was the original concessionaire of the Buenos Ayres Great Southern Railway, now in course of construction.

The late Mr. Clement Jas. Thompson of Liverpool—It is with much regret we notice the death at an old and much esteemed resident of Buenos Ayres, partner in the firm of Messrs. James Dalgish and Co. The melancholy news, we feel assured, will create much sorrow amongst his numerous friends in the River Plate, where he has also some near relatives.—River Plate Mail.

Rosario Gas Works—It seems that Mr. Beare's recent visit to England has resuscitated this project, he having brought with him special powers, from Messrs John Aird and on, of London to negotiate for the concession. Yesterday, Don Sant. Labadilla left for Rosario on Mr. Beare's behalf. So we hope soon to hear it is a fait accompli."

ON 'CHANGE

March 29.

Patacons fell slightly to-day, opening at 29.25, and closing at 29.20. Total cash sales, 13,250. The sales on time were extremely limited, the total sales amounting to 94,360.

The Tales was rather dull to-day, owing to the arrival of the French packet. The new Argentine Company was talked about on 'Change. It appears Mr. Hopkins, who was the concessionaire of the original company which has for its object the canalisation of the Capitan and building wharfs at New Fernandez, has sold out to this Joint Stock Company, every share of which has been bought up.

Respecting the Argentine Central Railway Company, we hear that it is not the intention of Y. Wheelwright to put the company on the Stock Exchange, as he has formed such connections in London as lead him to believe that the shares of this company will be taken by bankers, and other such institutions, for investment purposes.

The sums deposited in that most important institution are daily increasing and already reach a very large amount.
These advantages have not hitherto been enjoyed in this city by an immense number of Clerks, artisans, working-men & servants of all classes & conditions, who are equally interested in putting their savings out at interest, thus providing themselves with a reserve fund in case of need, sickness or old age, instead of spending them in the immoral gambling, in lotteries and other frivolities

The Bank will deliver to each depositor a Pass Book in which will be entered the amount deposited and withdrawn.
The depositor is permitted at any time to withdraw the whole or part of the sum deposited, in the former case the interest will be calculated up to date,
The Bank of Mauá and Co. is sufficiently known to the public by the benefits derived from the course of its operations which are regulated on the strictest and soundest principles and all will contribute to promote the general welfare.
The Bank of Mauá and Co. are also persuaded that this new branch of their business will render immense service to the working classes of Buenos Ayres and its neighbourhood.

ENGLISH GRAMMAR SCHOOL,
CALLE LARGA DE BARRACAS
—No. 79, Pompeyard, of the London University College.
This Establishment, which from its foundation has been patronized by the principal British families of Buenos Ayres, is an exact reproduction of an English School. Besides the usual branches of education combined with the acquisition of the French and Spanish languages is imparted to the pupils, and conducted upon the same system as in all first class European institutions of the kind.
An ever-watchful and constant supervision, and a strict maintenance of order and propriety, are a sufficient guarantee that the moral and religious duties of the pupils are carefully attended to.
The different branches taught in the English Grammar School comprise the English, French and Spanish languages, History, Geography, Arithmetic, and Book-keeping in all its parts, Writing, and Religious Instruction.
Extra branches, such as Latin, Mathematics, German, Music and Drawing, are also taught by special masters.
The Artificial Pupils of the English Grammar School, is one of the most delightful Quintas of the Calle Larga of Barracas, at the very gates of the city, in one of the most beautiful and picturesque of the environs of Buenos Ayres.
